

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Here's a cheerful poem that should dissipate some of the gloom that seems to prevail this evening (maybe it's the cold winds).

If the road to duty is rugged and rough
And paved with many a stone
If you're weary and footsore
And suffering with pain
And compelled to travel alone.

"If your heart is heavy and aching,
And feels like a bundle of lead.
If you're tired and weak and unhappy
And feel you would rather be dead.

Just pick up your burdens and hurry along—Cast a smile as you pass on your way.
You can always depend on reward in the end.
If you do your duty each day.

"You will find if you do it
And do it just right
Your heart will be warmed
By a beautiful light.

"Tis the face of our God
As he sees your success
And you're crowned to the end
With bright happiness."

We hear of a certain local restaurant which had a big drop in the consumption of meat yesterday.

It seems that on the typewritten menu one item was listed as "Dreaded Veal Cut-lets."

Taken from the Freeport
Ill. Tribune.

"If Roscoe, Leroy and Johnny Ocker can refrain from smoking until they become of age they will gain $350 each.
This was made known when the will of their mother was admitted to probate. She was the boys' aunt."

Ex-Felon Taken for Gang Ride

SAN JOSE, Aug. 23.—The supposed victim of a gang killing, the body of Nick Sigismondo, ex-convict and milder suspect, was found today in the Pacheco Pass, near Gilroy.

The body bore a number of bullet wounds, and was lying beside the road as though thrown from an automobile.

Sigismondo was arrested last Thanksgiving Day and questioned concerning the murder of Peter Pedone, local service station proprietor. He was later released, but had been kept under observation by the police.

Sigismondo several years ago served a term in San Quentin for murder, but was paroled, police said.

Sheriff William J. Emig was today seeking for questioning, Mario Pedone, son of the man slain last November. The younger Pedone was seriously wounded at the same time that his father was killed in their service station.

HOT CHASE TAKES PLACE ON AVENUE

A footrace between a local patrolman and a bad check suspect was a dramatic feature of Richmond street life yesterday.

Roy Middleton was the officer who answered the call of a local merchant and found the ascertained criminal still in the store.

The latter, who gave his name as Frank Potter, waited for northing when he saw the familiar blue uniform and bright star entering the door.

He dived for an exit and ran out onto Macdonald avenue. Officer Middleton showed a little speed himself about that time and got into the street just in time to see his quarry tearing about a mile a minute up the main drag.

Middleton gave chase and the pursuit ranged from Tenth and Macdonald to Eleventh where Potter eluded his pursuers for a few moments.
Due to his slight advantage in the quick getaway, he had turned a corner and vanished from sight.

Middleton, undaunted, commandeered an automobile and proceeded to circle the territory. In a grocery at Seventh street and Barrett avenue, he found his man again and sent him under arrest.

According to police reports Potter has been living in Richmond since August 8. He obtained a few days work at a local company and had gained confidence in a Richmond store by cashing his paycheck there.

Cashes Check
Yesterday he entered the establishment with a personal check for $25. The merchant cashed it and Potter started out with the money.

A sudden suspicion overtook the storekeeper and he called Potter back. The latter came back. In the short chase of time, the merchant had managed to call the local police station and Middleton who happened to be at hand was nearing the store.

A discussion of the check followed and Potter cheerfully returned the money. He was ready to take back his assertedly bogus check when the shadow of the stalwart officer darkened the main entrance.

Race Starts
This was the cue for the takeoff and Potter left.

Questioned by authorities, Potter said that this was his first attempt at fraud. He said he needed money to leave town and had intended to make the check good later.

Planned Jobs
Among his belongings at a local boarding house, however, police found a checkbook. Stubs indicated that he had defrauded and intended to defraud in the future other stores and shops throughout Richmond. They expect many complaints against him within the next few days.

He is held in the local jail and formal charges will be made today.

Prosecution Seeks Indian House Maid As Lamson Witness

SAN JOSE, Aug. 23.—UP—Search for an additional witness against David A. Lamson, Stanford Press sales manager accused of murdering his wife, Allene, was started by the state today through a jury dragged through a third day.

An 12-year old Hopi Indian girl, one-time maid in the vine-covered Stanford campus home where Mrs.
Lamson was found apparently beaten to death, was hunted by County Detective William Dreismeyer on orders of the prosecution.

Lamson once used a photograph of the Indian maid as the frontpiece of a volume published under his direction. The state seeks her in hope her testimony will aid its effort to send Lamson to the gallows.

David Lamson was married to attractive, intellectual Allene Thorpe of Lamar, Mo., after a four-year campus romance. They became parents of a daughter now

Cutting Of Budget Is Real Task

The tax rate for the City of Richmond for the coming fiscal year will be $2.21, or one cent less than last year, notwithstanding the assessment roll decreased nearly $2,000, 300.

This was agreed upon by the council at the final budget meeting held last evening.

For the past three weeks the members of the council have been going over every item in the proposed budget, and at first it was not thought possible that there was a chance of lowering the tax rate.

Long Discussion
At all of the meetings there was a very wide range of discussion some of which became very animated at times, but the final result was that economies were ef-fectuated.

The $1,200 yearly that has been paid for emergency hospital service was eliminated, as all of the Major Walter Johnson last night personally congratulated the members of the city council over their success in reducing the city tax rate in the face of great odds, and thanked each member and also the members of the press for their sincere cooperation and helpfulness during the recent budget study meetings.

"It has been no easy matter to make a reduction of the tax rate," Mayor Johnson said, "and I feel very proud of our councilmen in their ability to accomplish almost the impossible."

hospitals have agreed with the council that they were willing to perform the service and take their chances of being paid by the patients.

The $1,830 that was provided in the tentative budget for a position in the police department now vacant, was also cut out, as Chief Jones stated the department could operate efficiently without the added member.

Save on Insurance
City Manager J. A. McVittie found that he could save $85 on insurance premium on policies on city property.

Then there was another saving of $550 which was made possible by the voluntary reduction by City Attorney T. M. Carlson of that

DEATH RIDES HIGH WINDS ALONG COAST

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—New York found itself swept by winds tonight which, according to meteorological readings, averaged around 50 miles an hour and in frequent gusts attained a velocity of 70 to 80 miles.

Instruments in the observatory maintained by the New York Daily News, once just before 8 p. m., touched 55 miles per hour.

Rain Drizzles City
A heavy rain was driven in sheets over the city by the wind. The temperature was above 70.

The harbor was deserted by smart craft, yacht clubs and concerns operating landings for small craft kept extra crews on duty.

Damage Was Slight
Aside from signs being blown down, awnings wrecked and loose clothing being dislodged, comparatively little damage was being reported.

The barometer was falling rapidly.

Child Lost
These reported include three Negroes electrocuted by high tension wires and one white child who was washed into a sewer while playing in the storm waters.

It was definitely established that four persons had died as a result of the tropical storm.

Official confirmation was lacking due to the fact that all communication between cities in the Norfolk area was disrupted and all bridges between Portsmouth, Norfolk and other points were under water.

Power Shut Off
The three Negroes met death at Portsmouth near where a corps of workers sought to restore to working order the water-wrecked turbines of the Virginia Electric Power company's plant.

The entire district not only faced a night of darkness with water in every street, but the weather bureau predicted another storm with a 50 mile an hour gale wind between the territory between six o'clock and two o'clock tomorrow morning.

Property damage was estimated

Gridley Area Fruit Pickers Back to Work

GRIDLEY, Aug. 23.—UP—A strike of fruit pickers in this area ended tonight when strikers agreed to return to work in the Steadman and California Lands, Inc. orchards.

Other orchardists had already compromised, increasing pay of the pickers.

"We have won a great victory, but at the cost of the life of one man," Russell York, union organizer said in a statement.

He referred to John Clemons, 50, striker injured when he and John Lindsey, 27, fell from a truck driven by Ernest Steadman, son of the owner of the Steadman ranch.

Clemons was seriously injured,
but was still living when York made his statement.

Captain Grover Mitchell of the State highway patrol said the strikers jumped on Steadman's truck, Steadman, frightened, refused to stop and Clemons fell beneath the wheels, Captain Mitchell
said.

MODESTO, Aug. 23.—UP—A labor organization calling itself the Modesto Farmers' and Workers' NRA Union, claiming a membership of 2,600 today threatened to call a strike unless orchard workers were paid 30 cents an hour.

They charged child labor was being used and that wages ranged from 12½ to 25 cents an hour.

PALFINS ARE PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. John Palfin of 150 Eleventh street announce the birth of a son, William John, their first child. The little boy arrived Monday in Cottage hospital. The mother is the former Frances Camerio.

Dr. C. R. Blake, city health officer, last evening announced that Richmond is in no danger from an epidemic of Encephalitis Lethargica (so-called sleeping sickness).

Due to the numerous deaths and cases in St. Louis, Missouri, within recent weeks, some alarm has been displayed here following reports of two deaths from the disease in this vicinity.

Only one case of what is actually believed to be "sleeping sickness" has been reported in this city. Another death is due. It is thought, to a similar malady of like symptoms, which, however, was due to internal rather than contagious causes.

St. Louis Epidemic
The epidemic in St. Louis is reported the largest in the history of the disease as the contagious qualities are few and the malady soon wears itself out.

It is passed usually by direct contact with a sufferer and although it may be "carried" to others by one who does not contract it, this possibility is remote,
Dr. Blake stated.

Although medical authorities know little of the cause and "cure," it is believed that Encephalitis Lethargica would never assume the proportions of a plague.

It is generally apparent during cold seasons in rural sections and the mortality rate is estimated between 20 and 30 percent. Complete recovery frequently occurs with capable medical attention.

Not Jungle Type
This disease is not to be confused with the African "sleeping sickness" as it has little in common with the jungle malady.

The latter is found in the Congo regions and is caused by the bite of the Tsetse fly, toxins from which form a parasite in the blood affecting the membrane of the brain. No cure has been found and the mortality is great.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Aug. 23.—A third government expert today joined the staff of nationally known medical men investigating the sleeping sickness epidemic here as the death toll rose to nineteen and the total number of cases reported mounted to 191.

Appearance of the disease was reported in five other localities.

Nudists Seek Chico Ranch

CHICO, Aug. 23.—A nudist colony may be founded in Butte county, it was revealed here today when Bruce Gibson, rancher of Cohasset, said four members of a nudist colony approached him recently with a proposition to buy his ranch.

Gibson said the colonists planned to look over several other sites in the valley before closing the deal.

He said they were two men and two women and all were dressed in shirts and shorts when they consulted with him.

The colonists, Gibson said, would remain on the location the year round. A hall would be erected, cabins built and other improvements made.

Two of the four people who dealt with Gibson were from the East and the other two were from San Francisco.

Richmond Tennis
Club Out Again

Either the NRA, or the return of property in other ways, must be responsible for the return to the court of the long-inactive Richmond Tennis club which was successful in its first engagement this week.

Gathering a pickup bunch of former stars, the Richmond club (of the Eastside Club which it might be termed to the local folks) journeyed to the Point Sunday and took up racket with the Westside Tennis club, a newly-organized group, and took the Westside youngsters into camp by a tune of 5 matches to 4.

The Richmond club split even in the singles and took the odd match in the doubles to win the tournament. Lacking the more experienced play of the Richmond's racketeers, the Westside boys, nevertheless made a very favorable impression on their opponents and with more tournament experience should go a lot farther in the tennis world.

Following are the results of the matches:

Singles
Darrow Sutton (R) defeated Mitchell (S. W.) 6-4, 6-4.
Irving Sutton (R) defeated Bob Easton (W. S.) 6-8, 6-2, 6-4.
B. Peterson (W. S.) defeated Stanley Poulson (R) 8-6, 6-4.
Carl Peterson (W. S.) defeated Reese Hays (R) 6-0, 6-1.

RICHMOND

The offerings of Jake Ackerman, speed ball artist for the Stockton Native Sons, were entirely too fast for the local Richmond Produce nine in the debut of both teams at the Oakland Coast League park and as a result Ackerman whiffed fifteen of the Producers and this mark will undoubtedly not be bettered by any hurler in the Northern California Baseball Semi-pro tournament which got under way Tuesday night and is likely to run until September 4th.

Stockton converted six basehits into five runs to win 5 to 1. "Jiggs" Wright was the victim of poor support as but one of Stockton's rallies were earned. Wright sent twelve of the Native Sons back to the bench via the strikeout route and was touched for but six hits.

Another loss for the locals will result in their elimination from the tournament.

Jack Pinto and Les Scarcella gathered most of the hits for the locals as each connected for two safeties in four attempts and each came through with a two base poke.

Speaking Of Sports

DUBUQUE, Ia., Aug. 23.—UP—Little Edith Estabrook, 12, credits her getting wizardry to a rabbit's foot she carries with her in important matches.

Her friends however, who have watched her smash women's records on a dozen Iowa golf courses and defeat adult women champions, credit her success more to a good eye and a smashing stroke.

In the past summer Edith made two sensational records for a young girl. In the Iowa Women's State Tournament she defeated all comers, each of whom was twice her age until she reached the quarter finals. Here she was defeated by Mrs. Ruth Mucha, Waterloo, Ia., champion.

The prodigy qualified for the tournament with a score of 90. The tournament was won by Miss Lucile Robinson, Des Moines, state and western women's champion.

Later, Edith competed in the Western Women's Golf Association for juniors, which included girls up to 18. Most of the players were 17 and 18.

She was matched in the first round with the medalist and lost the match on the 19th hole, one-up. She qualified with a 91.

She recently lowered her own record of 85 for the local Bunker Hill course, when she negotiated the course in 83. She also recently established a new women's record of 29 on the fast nine-hole course at Monticello, Ia.

NEW YORK.—UP—Small boys of Pittsburgh recently were treated to the rare sight of their two heroes in action together. Al Williams, world champion stunt flier, and Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Swat. The occasion was when the Yankees stopped off at Pittsburgh for an exhibition game.

Captain Al Williams now aviation manager for an oil company, called at the ball park to visit his old team mate, Art Fletcher. Fletcher had been the star of the Giants when Williams was a recruit pitcher. It was their first meeting in many years. Naturally, baseball, not aviation, was the topic of conversation. All baseball had bemoaned the passing of an excellent pitcher when Williams went into naval aviation. Therefore, Fletcher was curious about "The old soup bone." It was suggested Williams "warm-up" for old times sake.

When the visiting Yankees team saw Williams—a native New Yorker, in Pittsburgh uniform, a howl of protest went up. So Williams pitched to them for batting practice. When Babe Ruth came to bat, Williams shouted to his famous opponent, "Hit one, will you? I've got about six left."

The Babe swung at two, took two and, to the delight of his adoring boys, knocked the next one out of the lot.

JOCHUMS WINS
FROM HERMAN
THROUGH FOUL

A small but enthusiastic crowd was here when attended the El Cerrito Athletic club bouts last night, winning four fast and famous bouts.

"All" Herman of Seattle lost on a foul to Steve Jochums of Berkeley. Jochums took the first fall in 13 minutes. Herman fessed the Berkeley man in six minutes to take the second fall, and in the third try Jochums claimed he was fouled and won the bout.

The match between Sailor Jull and Red Martin was declared a draw.

George Stewart defeated Oscar Scarberry, who subdued Nanjo Singh, in 15 minutes. A flying tackle and a body slam did the work.

Wildcat Poggie and Flask Kelly wrestled to a 30-minute draw.

BOOSTER GROUP PLEDGES HELP TO NRA PLANS

The chamber of commerce will give the active support of all its departments to the NRA program, and in particular will give aid to the publicity features of the movement, according to recommendation of the directors at their meeting yesterday.

The action was taken at the request of the chamber's publicity committee headed by Walter T. Helms, who declared this work should be the major activity of the committee during the near future.

Helms' committee was addressed during the morning by John A. Miller, general chairman of the local NRA organization, who asked the full support of the chamber, and in particular of its publicity department.

Organization Grows
Miller said his organization is now being perfected and that in the near future he expects to have a full representation of delegates from various groups in Richmond who will be appointed to serve in districts to impress the necessity of full cooperation upon the people.

Gifford T. Douglas, chairman of divisions, said at the directors' meeting that he believes the organization's activities will largely center on work with the consumer, inasmuch as there is reason to believe the business and industrial houses of Richmond will shortly be 100 per cent in displaying the Blue Eagle banner.

Business Improved
Ralph Bergen, manager of Certain-teed, said business continues on the upward trend with his concern and that he has increased his total of employment by 63 per cent since July 1. Orders, he said, indicate a continuance of activity for some time ahead.

P. M. Sanford, president of the Chamber, said it is evident that a large number of new people have been employed in local industries, partly through the increase in orders and partly through the plans set on foot through the NRA.

Fred D. Parr described the program of the Bayshore Fish company which is investing $50,000 in a fish plant at Pt. San Pablo, and the California Container company, which is located at the old Rheem plant in Emeryville, but will send all its business through the Richmond terminal facilities, and will employ many Richmond people.

E. B. Bull said his attendance at the meetings of the Naval Affairs committee convinces him that Richmond has an excellent chance to bring the proposed navy supply depot to the Richmond location at Winehaven.

BREWERY WILL ENLARGE PLANT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—UP—Articles of incorporation for a firm to enlarge the plant of the Vallejo Brewing Co. to a capacity of 1,000 barrels a day were filed today by George Hatfield, former U. S. district attorney.

Other incorporators were U. S. Marshal Fred Esola, Fred Heegler, mayor of Vallejo; Frank Battaglia of Oakland; Herbert Waterman of San Francisco and Fred B. Wood of San Francisco.

Almond Men Optimistic

ANTIOCH, Aug. 23. Prospects for a fair return were indicated today as growers prepared for harvest of the Diablo Valley almond crop.

While the yield throughout the state is expected to be spotty, the harvest in the Oakley section will probably show a considerable improvement over last season, growers reported.

Prices are still uncertain, but optimism was expressed over the fact that the entire crop was sold and delivered as soon as harvested last year and there is no

CONTRACTORS ENLIGHTENED ON RATE LAW

For the guidance of contractor throughout the State, Frank C. MacDonald, State Labor commissioner, calls attention to the law which took effect yesterday making the rebating of wages paid to employees on public works a felony.

Commissioner MacDonald served notice that this law will be strictly enforced and that no cutting of the scale or "chiseling" in connection with the State, city or county public work will be tolerated.

"Our State prevailing rate law," MacDonald stated, "is in very time shape as far as enforcement is concerned. It is expected by the contractor, due to over $10,000 in penalties assessed under it last February and due to the fact that ever since its enactment two years ago it has been strictly and uniformly enforced."

"Some difficulties have been encountered where contractors have attempted to subcontract the work out to laborers on a piece work basis. The new law makes it clear that piece workers and working subcontractors must be paid the scale set forth for workmen in the call for bids and the felony provisions apply if there is any rebating as to them by resort to any subterfuge whatsoever."

"Contractors resorting to any method of evasion of the spirit of this law and the spirit of the times by chiseling on their fellow contractors and on their workmen will be summarily dealt with, not only under the new rebate law but under the prevailing Rate Law itself by the infliction of appropriate penalties."

"Plaintiffs will also be called to the attention of the Registrar of Contractors with a request for revocation of the license of the offending contractor."

Approximately 3,000 acres are devoted to the crop in Diablo Valley and the total for the county is in excess of 4,000 acres. Though a yield of 1,000 pounds to the acre has been reported from well irrigated orchards, the average yield in this section is estimated at about 300 pounds.

County Bourbons Cease Potshots, Battle In Open

MARTINEZ, August 23.—Bicker and black looks in the Democratic ranks of the county broke into open warfare today when the Martinez Democratic club announced their opposition to several recent appointments.

That of Harry McBride, Pittsburg publisher, as acting postmaster of his home town, was actively opposed by the club members who asserted that he had only been a Democrat for a short while. They stated that they would use every power to prevent his permanent appointment.

They also emphatically disapproved of the naming of Frank Hollender, Pittsburg realty operator, as county NRA administrator. Hollender was also said to have been a stalwart Republican until a short time before the last election. Charges have been made that many members of the Progressive Democratic clubs are "renegade Republicans."

In making this business review we are aware that a great many of our readers trade down the avenue, and by that we mean San Pablo avenue, and a great many of them into Oakland to shop. El Cerrito has long been known as a favorite community for our shop, where there are a number of business concerns in many lines of business. El Cerrito is of course within car coach and we should endeavor to patronize those firms.

One of the larger concerns in El Cerrito which renders an up-to-date service and coordinates the amount of patronage from Richmond and other parts of the county is the Griffin Wrecking company, whose office and yard are now located at 1222 San Pablo avenue, El Cerrito, and under the management of Martin M. This concern is by no means a new firm as they have been serving our residents and the East Bay cities for a number of years in new

SUMMER

by
LOIS

Eda Lou Smith, a wealthy society girl, becomes a member of a new summer stock company near her home on Long Island.

She helps to finance it by pawning her pearls without her mother's knowledge. A 14-year-old waif named "Red" is adopted by the company as general errand boy. Eda Lou persuades her mother to let him live with them. When Mrs. Smith finds him doing up a string of pearls in a package, she accuses him of stealing Eda Lou's, then discovers they are imitation. Eda Lou's brother, Chick, asks her Lou's brother, Chick, asks her what she has done with her real pearls and intimates that the stock company has designs on her money and that Tad Emerson, the company juvenile, is at the bottom of the scheme.

CHAPTER XX.

AS CHICK finished, Eda Lou said quickly, "Chick, you must help me. This is all a horrible mistake. It's all my fault. I did buy that little string of pearls for Red to send to his mother for her birthday. He was so happy about it. And now—look what has happened. Chick, I'm the only one to blame. I had a copy of my pearls made. I pawned mine to get money anything wrong. Haven't I a right to do what I want with my own pearls?"

"How much money did you get for them?" Chick asked again.

"Only five thousand, Chick. Everybody else put more money than I did into the company. I had the most money, but never thought the cops would know. I gave the company three thousand," said Sam.

"SO you gave that crowd three thousand dollars? Why, they had no right to take that money. You're under age. I'll bet the whole scheme is that slick Tack wanted the idea. Wait till I get my hands on him, the crook!"

"Chick! Stop! I won't have you speak of Tad this way. He doesn't know about the pearls. They didn't even ask me to put in money. I'm not a beast. I'm a human, and I'd do it again. Chick, don't you understand? This is the one thing in the world that must not fail—this company. It's got to be successful. It's got to be successful, or my life, my future, my way, depends on it. For years, he's been dreaming of seeing his

"That's not impossible. Listen, Chick. In quick sentences she told her brother what Tad had confessed to her. Then she went to one of the bookshelves. "Wait a minute," she said. "I'll get you some year books—ever since I graduated? All right, if Tad's story is true, we'll find him and his father here somewhere. Come on, Chick, help me look."

Macdonald Group Holds Excellent Evening Meeting

Amid a setting of greenery and flowers, a delightful pageant was presented last evening before over 100 members and friends of the Macdonald Missionary society in the First Presbyterian church.

The pageant, entitled "What Owest Thou Thy Lord?" was cleverly depicted by a group of young people from the Park Boulevard Presbyterian church, Oakland. Emphasized by the capable use of a spotlight, the scenes portrayed the various forms of idol worship, life among the poor whites in the mountain regions of our country, in China and other countries.

The theme concerned the spirit of civilization turning back the pages of time and the costumes were attractive and colorful.

Rheem Company Is A Local Industry

In the past few weeks we have told our readers of Contra Costa county and Richmond about our local industries and what their activity means to our community. In fact if it were not for their being here our city and county would not be on the map as an industrial center of note, which is being recognized throughout the county and the world.

In this issue we give you a brief resume of one of our leading industries, one that has helped to put Richmond in the front as an industrial city. It is the Rheem Manufacturing company, whose large plant is located at Chesley avenue at S. P. tracks, one mile north of Richmond. The executive personnel of this large concern consists of R. S. Rheem, president; D. L. Rheem, vice-president; W. M. Mohler, Jr., vice-president; W. E. Zander, credit and office manager; G. S. Foulkes, sales manager and Duke Evans, superintendent.

This concern employs about 250 men, both skilled and unskilled and about 25 people in the office.

The Rheem Manufacturing company is one of 7 concerns of 10 kind in the United States and 24 perhaps the largest users of sheet products that were useful and needed they reached out further, until today it is one of the leaders in its field, having the plant here at Richmond and one in Los Angeles with sales offices and warehouses in Seattle, Washington, Portland, Oregon and Phoenix, Arizona.

The Rheem Manufacturing company is indeed one of Richmond's and Contra Costa county's most progressive concerns.

In the past comment of our local industries we have pointed out the advantages of buying their products, insuring on their trademarked brands and boosting their activity and we believe that the products of the Rheem Manufacturing company are meriting the trade in, and as they began to make

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 23.—UP—President Roosevelt, in a letter made public here today, urged the railroads of the nation to maintain the status quo in their relations with employees.

The President said he "deemed it desirable that in this critical period no active warfare between industry and labor should arise."

After the country has fought its way out of depression, the letter implied, there will be plenty of time to adjust wage agreements.

He fixed that time as "well into the coming year."

The letter was addressed to Chas. E. Johnson, president of the Kansas City Southern Railway.

The Southern's dispute with the four major railway unions over wage and working conditions attracted national attention and for weeks threatened a general downward revision of working agreements between the carrier and employees.

Finally, when it appeared that other railways were watching the outcome of the Southern's negotiations with a view to applying similar measures on their own lines, the President appointed an emergency board to investigate.

The Southern and the unions involved waited a report of the board's findings. The report has been completed and from it President Roosevelt outlined suggestions for settlement of the dispute.

SUSPECTS IN C.F. URSCHEL CASE JAILED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 23.—UP—Thirteen persons were indicted today in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, by a federal grand jury guarded by 40 officers armed with machine guns and automatics.

The names of six defendants were withheld, pending capture. Seven others, including the notorious Harvey J. Bailey, were in jail under heavy guard.

Speedy Session

The grand jury, working under direction of two assistant United States attorneys-general and the federal district attorney, was in session but six hours. Its speed set a record in a major criminal case.

R. G. (Boss) Shannon and his wife, in whose farm home near Paradise, Tex., the wealthy trustee of the T. B. Slick oil estate was kept prisoner, their son, Armon Shannon, and his wife, and Albert L. Bates, in jail at Denver, were others indicted with Bailey.

Includes Kelley

The seventh person indicted was George (Machine Gun) Kelley, object of a nationwide hunt.

Grand jurors heard first hand accounts of the kidnaping by two machine gunners of Urschel and Walter Jarrett from the sunporch of the Urschel mansion the night of July 22.

Jarrett was released unharmed an hour later. Friends paid $200,000 for Urschel's release. He spent nine days blindfolded and chained at night, in a farm house where he left evidence which may cost the lives of his abductors.

Urschel Present

Both Urschel and Jarrett were in the jury room. After Jarrett's appearance, United States District Attorney Herbert E. Hyde said he would confer with County Attorney R. Morris relative to state charges carrying the death penalty which may be filed against the desperadoes who invaded the Urschel home.

Jarrett was robbed of $52 before he was released. Armed robbery is punishable by electrocution in Oklahoma.

Bates and Kelley are suspected of being the actual kidnapers. Federal investigators located Urschel's prison cabin by airplane and fingerprints the oil man purposely left on door facings.

Trial In September

United States Assistant Attorney General Joseph Keenan, Washington, said the suspects would be tried in Oklahoma City in September. Under the so-called Lindbergh Federal kidnaping law, life imprisonment may be imposed upon conviction.

Keenan intimated that Bailey might then be brought to Kansas City, where he is under indictment in the machine gun slaying of five men on Union Station Plaza.

Meanwhile, officers at Dallas and Denver redoubled vigilance over Bates, and the Sharons for fear of possible snare reprisals or an attempt at liberation.

Wife Asks $250 Monthly Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—UP—Suit for $250 monthly maintenance was filed against Phillip Harris, Santa Rosa, today by his wife, Mrs. Rosebud L. Harris.

She also asked the superior court for a restraining order to prevent Harris from turning his property over to a brother, Harry Harris. Mrs. Harris alleged they separated last week and that her husband's income was $1,000 a month.

Gene Sankey Held Again

OAKLAND, Aug. 23.—UP—Local police were informed today that Gene Sankey, so-called "one-man crime wave" was held at San Pedro.

Sankey, said to be without fear, won the distinguished service medal, the croix de guerre and other honors for his World War feats.

After the war he was accused of many holdups. In 1929 he was charged with driving an automobile at high speed into a review of San Francisco police, injuring eight officers.

Prosecution Seeks Indian House Maid As Lamson Witness

There, in the bathroom, Mrs. Lamson was found dead, nine gaping wounds in her skull. Her nude body was in the tub.

Two Stories

There are two stories of the lives of David and Allene in their married years. They differ sharply.

The state claims they frequently and bitterly quarreled. The defense picture is the one intimate friends of the Lamsons had held—that they were Stanford's "perfect couple."

Former maids in the Lamson home, with their intimate knowledge of their employers, will be vital witnesses in the trial.

One for State

One, Clara Milwitz, was expected to testify for the state. Another, Mrs. Deloris Roberts Sorensen, will appear for the defense. The Hopi girl, Prosecutor Lindsey hoped, would support Miss Milwitz' expected testimony of bitter quarrels.

The state claims to possess both physical evidence and David Lamson's oral admission that the night before Mrs. Lamson's body was found, she repulsed her husband's advances through a subterfuge, and that he slept in another room.

Seeking Motive

Observers today believed the state will call Dr. Frederick Prosser, Santa Clara county pathologist, to answer a hypothetical question as to whether intense love, balked, could become a motive for a slaying.

Both prosecution and defense today declared an anxiety to have as many women jurors as possible.

REPORTED BETTER

R. A. Mitchell of Liberty street, El Cerrito, is said to be much improved in a Martinez hospital where he is receiving treatment.

HINDU MURDER TRIAL GUARDED

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 23.—UP—Spectators were searched for guns; state witnesses carefully shielded, and officers were ready to eject any suspicious appearing person as the murder trial of Indar Singh, a Hindu, opened today.

Ellipsing the actual trial in importance was possibility trial evidence might give authorities the key to 26 Hindu murder mysteries in Sacramento valley during the past few years.

Singh is charged with the murder of Kehar Singh in a Walnut Grove speakeasy last spring.

District Attorney Neil McAllister said state witnesses had received death threats.

"We are taking no chances," McAllister explained. "Spectators will be searched for weapons to prevent any possibility of a murder attempt in the court room."

All other Hindu murder trials—except this one—died "aborning" when State witnesses refused to testify after receiving threats of death.

Feet has closed the mouth of many Hindus who, it is said, are familiar with past Hindu murder cases.

Indar Singh is said to know the inside story of the Hindu murder ring. In fact, the district attorney's office said he has definite knowledge of eight previous Hindu homicides.

The defendant is an ex-wrestler, a man of powerful build. He is alleged to have killed his countryman by beating and kicking him.

Indar Singh was a close friend of Dharim Singh, one of the leaders of the Indian Dardar party. Dharim Singh was murdered by Lachman Singh who committed suicide.

County Council to Picnic Near Crockett Sunday

A large attendance from Richmond is expected at Sunday's picnic to be given by the Contra Costa county council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The event will take place at Crotona Glenn near Crockett, and is open to all members and their families.

There will be a very small admission charge for adults and children may attend free. All are to bring their own luncheons. Dancing, games and other events are included in the program for the day.

Small increases were made as follows: $100 in salary of second assistant fire chief, $275 for overhauling the hook and ladder truck by installing service brakes and putting in a bevel gear, $170 for work on the pumping engine of the fire department and $750 for the purchase of property to be sold by the county at tax sale, in which the city has an interest, and which must be protected. These increases amount to $1,250.

The excess of the savings over the increases, represents the one cent reduction the council is able to make in the tax rate.

Adoption Monday

The new rate will be officially adopted by the council next Monday night.

The new rate and the old rate can be compared by the figures appended below:

	1932-33	1933-34
General fund	$15,225	$14,485
Pond funds	5875	525
Library	.08	.01
School	.02	.01

Total Tax, $2.22 $2.21

There are fixed charges that the council cannot get away from. They are for bond interest and redemption, the bonds of which the people voted. It will be noted that in the new rate the bond fund rate has increased, and this could not be otherwise, for the assessed valuation of the city has dropped. In other words there is less valuation to levy upon.

Overcome Obstacles

But in spite of this decreased valuation, the council has been able to make a reduction in the general fund rate of three and three-quarters cents.

The news of the reduced tax rate will be hailed with delight by the taxpayers of the city, and the members of the council and the city manager are to be thanked for the results they have accomplished in making the tax burden less for the coming year.

Northwest Wheat Code Kept Secret

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 23.—UP—The northwest wheat code, dispatched today to Washington, D. C. for approval by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, will not be made public until he has inspected it. Douglas McIntyre, agricultural adjustment administrative official, said tonight.

The code provides for disposal of the northwest's 40,000,000 bushel surplus and the 1933 crop still unharvested.

It was drawn and approved at a conference of growers, exporters, millers and bankers.
